Dear Mr. Dorsey:

Recent news reports indicate Speaker Pelosi's Select Committee to investigate the January 6th events at the U.S. Capitol has issued requests for you to release your client's private and confidential data to the Committee. The U.S. Constitution and U.S. Supreme Court precedent prevents committees from obtaining these records and prohibits you from providing them. Simply put, neither the Committee nor you have the legal authority to provide those records. Adopting the misguided legal theory of the Committee Chairman would undoubtedly end with Congress rifling through the private records of any American.

Having said that, if you proceed to turn over the requested records, we request the records of the following sixteen (16) individuals also be preserved so future Congresses can investigate alleged infractions (see attachment).

We appreciate your cooperation in this matter.

Sincerely,

Andy Biggs
